Three Andover Men Seeking Vacated House Seat

Andover Senior Is Scholarship Winner

The National Merit Scholarship Corp. announces that Susan Cooper, a student at Andover High School, is one of the more than 2400 high school seniors to win 1967 scholarships as a result of the organization's national competition.

Miss Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren S. Cooper, 7 Turner Cir., will receive a Colby College Merit Scholarship. Colby is the college of Miss Cooper's choice and she expects to enroll there in the fall to major in mathematics.

The scholarship won by Miss Cooper is sponsored by Colby, an independent institution of liberal arts for men and women. Located in Waterville, Maine since 1813, the school has a faculty of more than 100 serving a student body of some 1450 students.

A two-year member of the National Honor Society, the scholarship winner is a majorette, a member of the yearbook staff and the Andover math team for which she was the high scorer in 1965-66. Her outdoor hobbies are skiing, swimming and tennis.

Three-fourths of the Merit Scholarships awarded this year are sponsored by some 340 different corporations, colleges, foundations, other organizations and individuals. Some 625 students, a fourth of the total, received National Merit Scholarships underwritten by Ford Foundation grants.

The 1967 awards are valued at $8.6 million by John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corp. Some 14,000 students were finalists in the competition.

Merit Scholarships provide from $400 to $6,000 for four undergraduate years of college.

The architects will start immediately to translate the educational specs into a program, prepare cost estimates and proceed from there to program the scheduling of improvements.

The Selectmen will tour the new senior high school construction site on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. with a guide. The purpose: to bring the board abreast of building progress.

Calvin C. Deyermund, who has been a patrolman for the Andover Police Department for nearly 20 years, has resigned his position effective in July. William A. Atwood, a permanent patrolman since 1964 has also submitted his resignation.

Three Andover men have their hats in the ring for a special election to fill a 12th Essex House of Representatives vacancy created by the resignation of Atty. Arthur Williams of Andover who this week took on new duties as legislative secretary to Gov. John A. Volpe.

At TOWNSMAN press time, they were the only announced candidates for the anticipated special election campaign. So far Speaker of the House John F. X. Davoren has not set a date for balloting.

The 12th district covers Andover, North Andover Precincts 1, 4, 5 and 6 in Methuen and War I in Lawrence.

Some political observers are predicting that Andover candidates will be meeting tough competition from an organized front in Methuen and one prominent local Democrat is predicting that unless Andover can put a "good, strong, respected conservative Democrat or liberal Republican" into the race, the seat will be lost to Andover.

The triple-district is traditionally Republican, but last fall voters seated a North Andover Democrat, breaking this pattern. James P. Hurrell was the first Democrat and the first North Andover resident to fill a 12th district seat since formation of the three-community district.

Cronin Is Candidate

Paul W. Cronin of Andover, administrative aide to U. S. Congressman F. Bradford Morse, has announced that he will seek the Republican nomination for representative in the 12th Essex District.

Cronin, a former Andover selectman, has worked on the Morse staff for the past two years, coordinating federal state and local matters for the Congressman who represents the 5th Congressional District.

Long an active worker for the Republican Party at every level, Cronin has served as a precinct worker, captain and member of the executive committee of the Andover Republican Town Committee. He has been active in many campaigns at the congress-

Former Andover School Committee member Vincent P. Davey announced today his candidacy for state representative in the 12th district.

Active in Democratic politics for a number of years, Davey has been a member of the Democratic Town Committee in Andover and he also served as aide-de-camp to former Lt. Governor Francis X. Bellotti during the administration of Gov. Endicott Peabody. The candidate was closely associated with the campaigns of both the late President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Davey was the Democratic nominee for a 12th district seat in the 1964 election and he also entered the primary race in 1966.

Stewart In Campaign

Selectman William Stewart of Andover announced his candidacy this week for the 12th district seat in the General Court which is open because of the resignation of Atty. Arthur Williams, also of Andover.

Stewart will seek the Republican nomination. The selectman was a candidate for one of the three 12th district seats in the general election last November, trailing the third of the successful candidates by a very narrow margin.

An Andover native, Stewart is in his third term as selectman. He was chairman during 1966.

The local official is a partner in the cost and management consulting firm of Stewart & Thurston, headquartered in Andover. Prior to formation of this company in 1948, he was associated with American Woolen Co. He first worked with the textile firm's production and industrial engineering department but was assigned in 1945 as superintendent of the Kennebec Mill, Fairfield, Maine.

Stewart took a leave from his firm in 1951 to serve as a consultant to the U. S. Office of Price

Fireman Seeking Leave

The Andover local of the AFL-CIO Municipal Fire Fighters Union has requested a conference with Manager Richard Bowen to discuss the contention of Lt. Walter Winward that he should be allowed injury leave for the time he spent away from work recently for surgical repair of an old hernia.

Both the manager and Fire Chief Henry Hilton previously denied the leave request, but the matter was reopened last week when Selectman Sidney P. White delivered to his board a letter addressed to Manager Bowen by Ted Sutton, president of the Andover Firemen's Relief Assn., questioning the administrative ruling.

Bowen told the Board that Lt. Winward developed a hernia seven years ago while lifting a stretcher in the line of duty. He said that Winward's request to have his recent hospital stay recorded as injury leave rather than sick leave (thereby leaving his sick leave intact) was refused because in the seven intervening years the man has never complained of the injury, missed work because of it or made any claim against the town.

He added that since Winward had dealt only with his personal doctor, the town had no way of knowing whether or not the injury had been aggravated recently or not. The manager added that if there was such an aggravation, the town was not in a position to determine whether fire department duties were responsible since Winward was not examined by the town physician.

Controversy flared last week after White's delivery of the letter to the Selectmen. He first presented the unsealed envelope to Roger Collins, board secretary, but both Collins and Chairman Philip Allen refused to read the letter aloud because it was headed with the manager's name. Allen said the question should have been brought before the manager rather than the board in the first place.

Selectman White then requested an executive session, but the town manager insisted on open discussion of the request.

Anniversary Is Sunday

Free Christian Church will celebrate this Sunday the 60th anniversary of laying of the cornerstone for its church building on Elm Street.

Rev. Frederick Wilson will bring greetings to the congregation and Rev. Arthur Wheelock will preach the anniversary sermon.

A special section in the church will be reserved for those who were members of the congregation in 1907 and following the service everyone attending will be entertained at a reception in the upper parish hall.

Six PA Boys To "Intern"

Six Phillips Academy students were last week selected to represent Andover in the South End Summer Internship Program in Boston this summer. Six boys from Phillips Exeter Academy will also take part in the program which is directed by Timothy C. Callard, a member of PA's Religion department.

The students will work for eight weeks this summer with the seven agencies under the United South End Settlements on a variety of projects involving recreational programs, tutoring, and finding summer employment for South End young people.

The idea for the project was sparked last fall at the annual meeting of PA's Alumni Council when Charles Liddell, PA '39 executive director of the United South End Settlements, spoke to alumni and students about the opportunities for Academy students in the field of off-campus social work.

The volunteers will be housed at the headquarters of the settlement, and each boy will receive a specific assignment. However, Callard has planned that each student volunteer be given certain freedom to work out his own ideas within the assignment. The PA students were chosen for their maturity and talent as well as their ability to relate well with young people from different backgrounds. They will prepare themselves for the summer by participating in seminar discussions and attending lectures led by specialists in the field of urban problems.

Bird Walks Are Scheduled

Beginning today, May 4 at 7 p.m. and on each Thursday during May there will be bird walks through the Ipswich River Sanctuary, Topsfield. Several small groups will be led by: Mrs. Donald Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cyr, Dr. Stuart Harris, Mrs. Waters Kellogg of Andover and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lewis. Members and non-members of the Massachusetts Audubon Society are welcome and may have their picnic supper beforehand on the grounds.

During May, Saturday morning bird walks at the Ipswich River Sanctuary, led by Mr. David Kelleher, will start at 8 a.m. from the parking lot. Everyone is invited to these two-hour trips. "Plants and How they Grow" is the subject of a children's program Saturday, May 6, 10 a.m. at the Ipswich River Sanctuary. David Clapp will illustrate the growth of trees and plants with diagrams, pictures and living specimens. Donation.

The Ipswich River Sanctuary has over 2,000 different kinds of trees and shrubs introduced from many countries. Albert Bussewitz, director of Rocky Knoll Nature Center, will lead a field trip Sunday, May 7 at 2 p.m. (starting from the parking lot) to point out and discuss some of these exotic plants.

an application for a Federal planning loan approved by Town Meeting in October was not submitted until recently, and both expressed dissatisfaction with the manager's explanation.

Bowen told the Committee that the loan application was delayed partly because he knew from talking with Federal officials that the agency involved had more applications for 1966 than it had funds to support, partly because the pressures of more immediate problems had interfered and partly because of the time involved in preparing the necessary information for the lengthy application.

Despite this, the manager said, he is not running behind the schedule he set for himself on this project. He said that work on the water line for the West School site is underway and that though borings have not been taken, the town does not expect on-site sewage disposal problems, first because it holds a large tract of land and secondly, because of the nature of soil characteristics in the area.

He told the school board that if the requested Federal loan has not been approved by August, when there is to be a special town meeting to vote a bond issue for the planned Bancroft School, he will advise the Selectmen to ask for some $88,000 in local funds to initiate the planning. (He did not say how such a mid-year expenditure could be financed, but use of the stabilization fund has been previously suggested.)

Chairman Galbiati told Bowen he was not satisfied with his explanations for the delay of West School plans and he added, "Maybe somebody's hands should be slapped... I haven't heard one good reason for the delay." Tempers flared as the manager asked Galbiati if he was inferring that he (Bowen) should have his wrists slapped.

Galbiati replied that he knew he would feel guilty if he were responsible for the delay.

The manager pursued the subject by telling the board that he felt it owed the public an explanation for why it is not going ahead with an addition to the present West School instead of requesting construction of a new 24-room building.

In this exchange, Dr. Katz said that projections for school population indicated that a 12-room addition on Beacon Street could not handle the expected enrollment in the area.

Committeeman Doherty added that "it makes much more sense to ask for a third complete school rather than an addition" because you go through as much to get a few rooms as you do to build a whole school.

Manager Bowen responded by asking the Committee if it had considered the possibility that the construction of a new school in West Andover would prompt a new flurry of residential construction there, creating still further complications for the school department in that part of town.

Several expressed the view that this was not a problem that the School Committee could deal with but there was general agreement that school officials should "justify" the scheduling of construction of a new school rather than an addition to the present West building.

At one point in a heated exchange, Bowen told the school chairman that he could not proceed with plans for a later West School addition or for eventual enlargement of the new high school, which is still under construction, because he does not yet have the educational specifications. Galbiati indicated that this situation would be corrected.

There was some discussion of the manager's announcement last week that despite the contractor's assurances that the new high school will be ready for occupancy Sept. 1 of 1967, it is his view that the school department should plan with the possibility in mind that it will not be completed.

The town will not haul away large trees, fallen sheds or the like. Property owners must arrange for private removal of such large or heavy items.

Selectmen Collins and White are asking business men of the town to cooperate by cleaning out trash left in alleys and open lots near their properties and they are urging everyone to see that all junk cars are cleared out this spring.

In discussing plans for the beautification of traffic islands, the selectmen said the town would be willing to remove hot top and gravel from islands that are now covered and add top soil as an inducement to organizations interested in maintaining these isolated spots of land as flower gardens.

They reported that the town will soon install new trash receptacles in the downtown area and remove the discarded parking meter standards along business blocks in the center as a further move toward beautification.

Of the 625 National Merit Scholars, 500 were chosen state by state. The number for each state is proportional to its population of graduating high school seniors. An additional 125 National Merit Scholars were selected from among finalists who overcame unusual handicaps, have exceptional financial need, have shown creative ability, or entered college at early-admission students before completing four years at high school.

Winners of sponsored Merit Scholarships were chosen according to the sponsor's criteria. Many sponsored awards are for children of the sponsoring firm's employees. Others are for finalists who want to attend a particular college, have indicated certain career preferences, or have some other qualification which the sponsor wishes to encourage. Some sponsored awards are open to any finalist without regard to preferential criteria.

NMSC also announced this week the names of about 200 students who were selected to receive Merit Scholarships, but whose plans precluded their receiving Merit Program assistance. They were designated Honorary (National) Merit Scholars or Honorary (sponsored) Merit Scholars, depending on the sponsorship of the award for which they were selected. They will receive no financial assistance from NMSC.

Relearning A Lesson

Monday a week ago at a public meeting Selectman Sidney P. White presented to the secretary of the board a letter from the president of the Firemen's Relief Assn. protesting an administrative decision about an injury leave for a lieutenant in the fire department.

Although the unsealed letter was addressed to the town manager, Selectman White said he had been asked to bring the letter to the board and he reported that he had done so because he "thought it was only fair . . . to hear first hand (the manager's) interpretation of the case."

The move was premature.

In 1964 the present town manager wrote into the rules and regulations for town employees a grievance procedure which gave municipal employees, for the first time in Andover history, the stated right to protest their lot and a four-step method for seeking redress.

Employees of the fire department (as well as the public works and school departments) are now further protected by union locals which bargain for and protect the rights of workers in the departments they represent.

So until every established and legal means of seeking a solution to a personnel grievance has been exhausted, there is no reason for any employee to appeal for the assistance of elected officials . . . nor any reason for elected officials to make routine personnel matters the subject for open controversy.

Mr. White should have insisted upon delivery of the letter directly to the town manager. This is what would have been in the best interest of the man involved and the town.

Whatever it was the selectman started out to prove, the one lesson to be learned from the whole affair is an age-old one — whenever you mix politics and personnel, you create more problems than you solve.

A Question

On May 6 Andover will pay tribute not only to the Founders of this historic town, but to present-day employees and volunteer public servants as well.

The annual Founders' Day observance is to be held at Memorial Hall Library where the Board of Selectmen will announce the winner of the William Rhoads Memorial Award to the Employee of the Year and where long-term employees and board members will receive service pins and certificates.

The event is open to the general public and affords residents an opportunity to show their appreciation for the efforts of those who work for the Town of Andover simply by showing up.

Which prompts this question: Where will you be between 5:30 and 7 p.m. this Saturday evening?

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
We wish to express our thanks to our many Andover friends and neighbors. Their sincere concern for our safety during Friday's storms will long be remembered by Bob and myself.

Next to an earthquake, a tornado is the most unpredictable and destructive of nature's weapons. It can leave one block untouched, yet level the next one with winds as high as 500 miles an hour — three times the force of the strongest hurricane, leaving witnesses powerless even to describe its horror.

Our village was mercifully spared. But to the dazed survivors of the tornadoes that smashed neighboring Illinois communities Friday, it must have seemed as though nature had suddenly turned murderously insane. They saw houses, trees, brick buildings crumpled like paper, their own homes destroyed, friends and relatives killed in a few moments of nightmare that turned their solid world into wreckage.

We cannot adequately help them mourn their loss. But it is well for us to remember that the tornado was a tornado, not an evil giant; that nature is neither insane nor vindictive but just nature. The laws that produce tornadoes from given weather conditions are the same kind of laws that govern every other natural process — which is to say that they are reliable and are never broken or overlooked.

Our shock at this appalling destruction is partly pride. We humans generally manage to keep ourselves convinced that we are the lords of creation and have taken over from nature. Along with the tragedy of loss and destruction, we face the sobering reminder that we are mistaken.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN
The papers report that a principal reason for opposition to the ABC dormitory in Andover is that " . . . it would decrease values of nearby residential properties."

It is good to know that many people are interested in making it known that they oppose actions that have an adverse effect upon real estate. Therefore, it is hoped that these people together with others opposed to single actions as well as programs which are converting Andover into a town of city characteristics (bit by bit) shall continue to make known their opposition. Two cases in point need attention at once:

The recent outlandish decision of the Zoning Board of Appeals which allows the former town infirmary to be converted into a building of five apartments should be corrected (even tho costly) by asking town meeting to take the property, demolish the building and return the area into green space;

Students Advised

Scholarship Aid Available

The Federal Government is out to publicize what it is doing to help individual students cope with the high cost of higher education in the USA.

Why? Because many young people who qualify for various forms of financial aid offered under government programs are unaware that help is available.

In statements this week, officials of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare emphasized the importance of early action on the part of high school seniors who already have college acceptances, but find that their own resources are inadequate to pay the costs.

Dr. Rino A. Johnson, director of higher education for HEW's Region I urged in his statement that such students get in touch immediately with financial aid officers at the college and apply for a job, loan, grant or other assistance for which they may be eligible. Region I is comprised of the states of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

"Frequently," Dr. Johnson said, "we get last-minute requests for information on financial aid from students who are not aware of the fact that the college which has accepted them may have Federally-supported and other programs of assistance which could help see them through. Application for financial aid should be made as soon as possible directly to the college financial aid officer, since three of the four major programs are administered directly by the colleges."

The four major Federal programs of financial aid to students, available to eligible students in any field of study, are: The National Defense Student Loan Program, the College Work-Study Program, the Educational Opportunity Grants Program, and the Guaranteed Loan Program.

During the 1967-68 academic year it is expected that these four programs together will enable about 1,175,000 undergraduate students throughout the Nation to attend institutions of higher education, at a total financial aid level of over $1.1 billion.

Most colleges and universities in the United States take part in the National Defense Student Loan program, the oldest major program of student assistance which is Federally-supported, Johnson said.

Under this program students borrow directly from their colleges. Repayment and interest do not begin until after the student has ended his studies, and may be extended over a 10-year period. An undergraduate student may borrow up to $1,000 each academic year to a total of $5,000. A graduate student may borrow as much as $2,500 per year to a maximum of $10,000 including what he may have borrowed as an undergraduate. There are special cancellation provisions for student borrowers who become teachers.

Since the beginning of the program, authorized by 1958 legislation, more than 1 million students have borrowed over $1 billion.

For the academic year beginning this fall, an estimated 18,084 students in Massachusetts in attendance at 79 institutions of higher education, will borrow an estimated $6,987,200.

The College Work-Study Program provides jobs for students who need employment to help pay for college expenses. Generally students work up to 15 hours a week while attending classes full-time, and may work 40 hours a week during summer or other vacation periods. Students may work for their college in dining halls, laboratories, libraries and in maintenance work. Or they may work off-campus in public or non-profit organizations, such as those in health, education, welfare or recreation.

During the present school year it is estimated that more than 184,000 undergraduate students are employed in this program, earning an average total salary of about $700 a year. During the present school year an estimated 6,631 students attending 55 colleges in Massachusetts were employed in College Work-Study programs, at an approximate Federal cost of $6,933,300.

"Educational Opportunity Grants," Johnson said, "is a new program that began operation in the fall of 1966. It is intended for undergraduate students in such extreme financial need that without the grants they could not attend college."

In its first year of operation, $58 million in Federal grants enabled 134,000 students to attend college. These students, so long as they remain in good standing, are eligible to apply for grants for each year of undergraduate study. The grants range from $200 to $800 a year.

During this school year 3,764 students are attending college in Massachusetts with the help of Educational Opportunity Grants.

The Guaranteed Loan Program, which began operation in the summer of 1966, provides a means for students to borrow directly from their bank, credit union, savings and loan association or other eligible lender. While any student may borrow, the program is intended primarily to ease the heavy burden of educational costs for middle-income families. For students whose adjusted family income is less than $15,000 a year the Federal government pays the entire interest (6 percent) during the school years, and half the interest (3 percent) during the repayment period, which begins when studies are terminated. The loans are "guaranteed" by a State agency, or a private nonprofit agency designated by the State.

"In spite of the 'tight' money market which existed as the program got underway, and still exists," Johnson said, "between July 1, 1966 and February 28, 1967, throughout the Nation more than 260,000 students borrowed a total of more than $206 million in loans. During this time, 12,502 students in Massachusetts borrowed $11,782,078 for their college expenses."

In Massachusetts the Guaranteed Loan Program is administered by the Massachusetts Higher Education Assistance Corp., 511 Statler Building, Boston, Mass. 02116.

"Some years back a college education was something of a status symbol reserved for the child of affluent parents, or the child marked by outstanding scholastic ability or athletic skills," Johnson said. "Fortunately for our young people and for our country's future this situation has changed," he said.

Faith Church Is Study Host

Four Lutheran churches in the Merrimack Valley have been invited to study the historic "Manifesto" of the Lutheran Church in America, read to congregations on Reformation Day, Oct. 31, 1966.

Faith Lutheran Church, Andover, will host representatives from Triumphant Cross Church, Salem, N. H.; Redeemer, Lawrence; and Trinity Church, Chelmsford, on Wednesday, May 10, at the Bay State Bank at 8 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to study the areas of cooperation and mutual endeavor available to the congregations. It is hoped that out of this and future consultations, a team ministry, cooperative committee planning, and combined educational programs will arise.

All discussions will be guided by the use of the 16-point "Manifesto", the statement of the Lutheran Church which directs congregations to be alert to the mood and needs of modern Twentieth Century life.

Andona Plans Clown Town

The proceeds of the fair will be used to benefit the youth of Andover, primarily through the awarding of two scholarships to high school graduates.

Civil Rights Worker Will Be Sunday Speaker

Dr. Jesse L. Parks will be guest speaker May 7, at the 10:30 a.m. service at the Unitarian Universalist Church, 244 Lowell St.

Long active in the Civil Rights movement, his subject will be "What Next for the Civil Rights Movement?"

In the summer of 1962 he served as leader to a group of students on a project with the Egyptian Government under the auspices of Operation Crossroads Africa. During the spring of 1964 he served as advisor to a group of Springfield College students participating in a YWCA sponsored, voter registration program in Louisville, Ky. He is a member of the Urban League and chairman of the district action committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Born and educated in Ohio, he graduated from Oberlin College and served 3 years in the Army. A recipient of the Danforth Teacher Grant in 1955-56, he completed his graduate studies at the University of Michigan with the awarding of a Ph.D. degree in 1959.

education at Springfield College in Springfield, Mass. A leader in the Springfield community, he has served as president of the Springfield Action Commission, as a member of the executive board of the Committee for Better Schools in Springfield, and a church officer at the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church.

Ministers Study

Problem Solving Explored

Ministers of the Andover Assn. began a new training program this week designed to equip the clergy for "Problem Identification and Problem Solving in Today's Parish." Class sessions for the program, which is sponsored by the State Conference of Churches of the United Church of Christ, are being held at Phillips Academy.

Leading the sessions are Dr. Robert Burden of Harvard University and Dr. Gunther Weil of the Cambridge Educational Development Center. The program involves sensitivity training with the use of metaphor, and is based on methods worked out by an industrial consultant firm in Cambridge called Synectics. Their work has been highly developed in the industrial field and in education, but this series is the first to be offered to professional ministers. It is an outgrowth of a project of a similar kind which has been carried on during the past year at the Free Christian Church with lay leaders and the minister, Rev. J. Allyn Bradford. The Andover Assn. is a fellowship of congregational churches in this area.

The training sessions will run from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays through May 30, with monthly follow-up sessions on real problem solving.

Valley Artists Exhibit

The works of a number of Merrimack Valley artists will be exhibited for five days at the Unitarian Universalist Church on Lowell Street beginning May 13.

Having had good response to the first Art Show of this type last year, the church has decided to make it an annual event. It provides a means of supporting and encouraging local artists by offering them a place to competitively display their works.

The hours for visiting the exhibit are Saturday, May 13, 2 p.m. -

9 p.m., Sunday May 14, 2-9 p.m., Monday May 15 through Wednesday May 17, 10 a.m.-12 noon, 1-5 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

Included will be oils, water colors, charcoals, pastels, sculpture, arts and crafts and graphics. Robert Deacon of Andover, Jean Arsenaault of Newburyport and Ann Schecter of the Lowell Sun have been invited by the art committee to be judges. Ribbons for each category and best in show will be awarded on the Friday preceding the opening.

Trouble-free with a capital "T"!

STANDARD CLIPPINGS BAG. TORO pioneered grass and leaf bagging attachments for rotary mowers in the first place, and this year they're even better. This standard equipment bag clamps on with one hand, and it has a heavy-duty bottom. No zippers to clog, either.

SAFETY SPIN START. You wind up the "impulse" starter, step behind the mower handle, for safety, and push the lever to "start" position. Chokes automatically.

THREE OR 3½ HP. FOUR-CYCLE ENGINE. Starts easily, runs smoother than cheap 2-cycle engines. No mixing of gas and oil.

MAGNESIUM HOUSING. The lighter-than-aluminum stuff they use in airplanes.

AUTO-OILER. A visual oil filler. Push the button and you're sure the crankcase is full. No plug, no funnels, no oily fingers.

CLEAN-OUT PORT. When you're through mowing, let the engine idle and run a little water into the clean-out port. The blade splashes it all around under the housing and washes it out like new.

TRIMIT. You know that grass along the sidewalk that won't stand up? This little device props it up so the blade can clip it off crisp.

WIND-TUNNEL HOUSING. TORO's "S" shaped cutting blade actually creates a powerful suction under the housing. It pulls grass up for a more even cut. "vacuums" leaves, too.

The League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting and election of officers at the Log Cabin in the Bird Sanctuary at Phillips Academy on May 9 between 12:15 and 3 p.m.

The program of study and action for the coming year will be selected. League members are asked to bring a sandwich. Baby sitting will be provided.

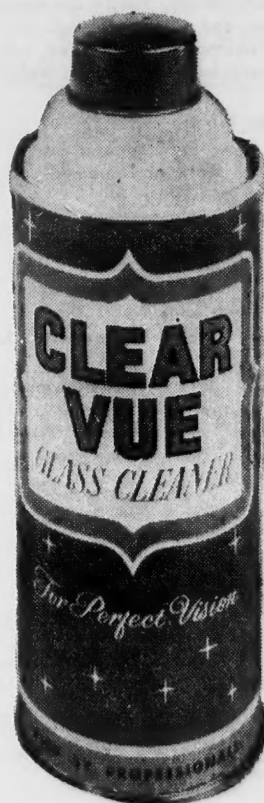

School administrators have decided against moving public school sixth graders into new and temporary quarters next fall because of the uncertainty of the completion date for the new senior high school.

It had been planned to place sixth graders in rooms of two junior high schools in order to relieve elementary school congestion for a year or two, but this move cannot be accomplished with ease unless senior high school students vacate their present building in September, permitting the splitting of the present junior high population into two student bodies. Rather than move sixth graders in mid-term, the School Committee decided Tuesday to drop plans for the sixth grade move for the coming school year.

A tuition fee of $650 per student was established by the School Committee Tuesday for the 10 boys who are to be registered here in the fall as A Better Chance students at Andover High. Supt. Edward I. Erickson recommended this figure after checking with state education officials to learn what fees are typical for out-of-town enrollees.
